Doing Business in Mexico!

Juan Manuel Ferrón is a partner and practice leader of PwC Mexico; President of AIESEC Alumni IberoAmerica (AAIB) and, due to his incredible knowledge and credibility in the major business and political circles of the country, he is the Lead Driver in programming the content of the AIESEC Alumni International Meeting 2011.

Juan Manuel has volunteered to arrange specific meetings before the beginning of the event to allow national or regional delegations to have business meetings with managers or consultants in specific areas of interest, leading to trade development between Mexico and other countries/ regions.

In words of Juan Manuel, "for those delegations that can put together 10 or more delegates, and by specific request, we can put together a Doing Business in Mexico face-to-face meeting, either on the 15th or the 16th of February, prior to the AAIM 2011. You can even request to meet professional advisors related to the specific industry the group wants information on. The talks will be hosted either at the hotel premises or at PwC Mexico facilities. The professional advice will come from government officials, industry entrepreneurs, most of them Alumni, and from PwC partners and subject matter experts".

This is an extraordinary opportunity to turn the AAIM 2011 into a business forum where alumni can evaluate business opportunities between their companies and the sizeable and high-potential Mexican market.

The promotion of this business opportunity among your national alumni will prove to be of great interest and I encourage you to spread the word and motivate registrations to the event. This additional programme will allow delegates taking advantage of these bi-lateral discussions to obtain sponsoring from their employers to attend the Mexico event.

Thank you for your support and promotion.

Yours,

Vamos a Mexico!

Launching AAIM promotion campaign on social networking sites!

The most powerful characteristic of the AIESEC Alumni network is the strong connection between them both generational and geographically. There are a lot of stories from new partnerships with former Alumni, business initiatives, social causes to love stories or long-life friendships.

Would you like to reactivate those connections? Well, AIESEC Alumni International Meeting in Mexico 2011 is an excellent opportunity to do so.

How you can participate?

On Facebook, "tag your AIESEC friends" of your AIESEC's time in the Invitation flyer and make it viral. Share your best photos on the albums "Photo memories" or "Special moments" to remember those achievements of your generation. If you are from Mexico, or have attended a meeting in Mexico already, share with the rest of the people your impressions and recommendations to do/to visit in Mexico!

AIESEC ALUMNI is all about connections

Vamos a Mexico

You can also share your video invitations on YouTube and on Linked In you can participate with other Alumni in the discussions groups. Go to the AAIM 2011 Facebook Page and reactivate your connections.. But, the most important, See you in Mexico!

"Riccardo Rubini" Alumni Award in Italy goes to: AIESEC Local Committee of Palermo

This year the best project for the development AIESEC Alumni Italy went to the AIESEC Local Committee of Palermo which submitted a project to disseminate the values of AIESEC in the country.

This Alumni award is organised in memory of our friend Riccardo Rubino, who always believed in the philosophy of AIESEC, engaging with passion to make it grow since its establishment in Italy.

Riccardo was board member of AAI in the 90s.

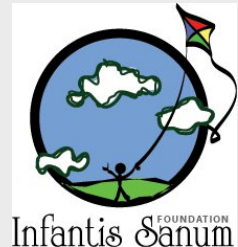

Support the Haiti help initiative of an Alumnus in Latin America!

Infantis Sanum Foundation is a non-profit organization, established in Florida, United States, in February 12, 2003. To provide financial resources to sick Latin American children, allowing them to receive hospital-medical assistance inside the United States.
